

R.E. VICK II

Entrepreneur · Investor · Strategist · Business Builder

R.E. Vick II is an entrepreneur, first-generation oil and gas executive, investor, and multidisciplinary business strategist. Through WhatElse, LLC, he oversees a diverse portfolio of business interests, investments, and entrepreneurial ventures spanning energy, technology, real estate, business development, athletics, and media. His approach is rooted in intellectual curiosity, independent thinking, strategic execution, and a belief that opportunity exists beyond the boundaries of conventional thinking.

ENERGY

As President and CEO of FTC Energy, Ltd., which he founded in 2018, Vick has established himself within the upstream oil and gas industry, specializing in mineral and royalty acquisitions, asset valuation, complex ownership analysis, and strategic investment. In 2017, he was recognized with the NextGen Under 30 Award in the energy sector.

BEYOND ENERGY

His interests extend into emerging technologies, real estate development, residential construction, scalable business models, international commerce, and creative media, connecting principles across industries to find opportunity where others see limitations.

ATHLETICS

A former collegiate basketball player, Vick earned his B.A. in Communication with a minor in Kinesiology (coaching emphasis) from Fresno Pacific University. On the coaching staff of Classen SAS girls basketball, a nationally ranked program, he helped capture the 2021-22 Oklahoma Class 4A state championship and develop numerous collegiate athletes, including multiple NCAA Division I starters. Combined coaching record: 183-45 (2018 to 2025). Through WhatElse he presents TMC All-State.
